

CHINESE COURSE

BEGINNER LEVEL

CEFR Level A1

10 sessions of 2
hours per semester

Prerequisites : None

General objectives :

- Master the basics of spoken Chinese and be able to recognise Chinese characters encountered in daily life in China.
- Each lesson includes role-playing and scenarios to help you memorize through practice.

Learning objectives :

- Phonetics : master the rules of pronunciation and tones. Pronounce the 4 tones correctly.
- Vocabulary : master 200 new words (spoken and written), know the pronunciation, spelling and meaning of these words and how to use them.
- Grammar : use sentences with successive verbs expressing manner and sentences with alternative questions, master frequency and degree complements, affirmative-negative questions, etc.
- Communication : be able to express yourself on your personal life, family, work, leisure and matters related to everyday life.
- Know how to invite or decline an invitation and apologize.
- Reading and writing : be able to read simple sentences and messages ; be able to write simple sentences in Chinese words relating to daily life.
- Cultural knowledge : discover festivals, traditional Chinese arts and the most common customs. Discover the codes of communication between Chinese people.

Teaching materials :

Manuals :

- 301 phrases dans les conversations en chinois (tome 1 et 2)
- Reading Newspaper, Learning Chinese (Intermediate 1, +MP3) (<http://www.librairielephenix.fr/livres/reading-newspaper-learning-chinese-intermediate-mp3-9787301215357.html>)

Dictionary :

- Chinese-French dictionary (<http://www.librairielephenix.fr/livres/dictionnaire-chinois-francais-9787100000994.html>)

Level assessment :

An A1 level assessment is offered during the semester.